Tae Kyung LEE is in charge of the Data Insights & Value Group of Jipyong Management Consulting and joined JIPYONG in 2023. As a result of his more than ten years of experience working to analyze data and develop a system for management at a major accounting firm, Mr. Lee has a wealth of knowledge and experience in the audit and control of information systems. In numerous industries, including manufacturing, construction, finance, IT, and telecommunications, he has honed a strong expertise in corporate data analysis centered on enterprise resource planning (ERP). He has also led financial and non-financial management consulting by creating a risk-sensing and management system.

Tae Kyung LEE offers clients a full range of services that enable data-driven identification and analysis of corporate risks as well as response to management-related risks such as operational inefficiencies, compliance, and the detection of wrongdoing. Additionally, he offers services for creating a platform for thorough and efficient data management in advance of ESG disclosures.

The relevance of management has increased in recent years as a result of the tightening of control standards for corporate data and information systems. In light of this, Mr. LEE takes every effort to offer a comprehensive service that includes information system management and control, data analysis, and system setup. He also offers these services to deliver value and insights through data.
