Mr. Gwon Sik Shin as Advisor (Labor Attorney) joined the Ministry of Employment and Labor in 1991 and served until 2021, where he handled key tasks in policy formulation and implementation at the Ministry's headquarters, regional employment and labor offices, the Central Labor Relations Commission, and the Seoul Regional Labor Relations Commission. He is also recognized for his extensive on-site experience, having worked at the Economic, Social, and Labor Council (formerly the Tripartite Commission), a presidential body that leads social dialogue.

In addition to policy-making duties at the Ministry's headquarters, Mr. Shin held various managerial positions at regional employment and labor offices, such as Head of the Regional Labor Supervision Department, Head of the Labor Improvement Guidance Department, and Head of Employment Management at the Ministry's headquarters. He is praised for his balanced perspective, and during his tenure at the regional employment and labor offices, he was selected as the Best Leader (in 2011) by the Public Officials' Workplace Council under the Ministry of Employment and Labor.

Furthermore, from 2021 to August 2024, he worked at Dentons Lee, where he provided advisory services based on his vast on-site experience at the Ministry of Employment and Labor and the Labor Relations Commission. His services focused on both individual and collective labor relations, helping to establish rational labor-management relations through effective communication with field operations.

With his extensive experience in the Ministry of Employment and Labor and at a law firm, Mr. Shin will provide more sophisticated services to clients at Jipyong.
